Re Section V

1. Prior Art: Reference is made to the following documents cited in the International Search Report

D1: US 2003/008020 A1

D2: US 2002/034557 A1

D3: DREWES SIEGFRIED E ET AL: "Recent findings on natural products with erectile-dysfunction activity." PHYTOCHEMISTRY. APR 2003, vol. 62, no. 7, April 2003 (2003-04), pages 1019-1025, XP004410106 ISSN: 0031-9422

D4: EP-A-0 304 603

D5: EP-A-0 418 806

D6: EP-A-0 692 250

D7: US 2002/013280 A1

- 1.1 Document D1 discloses methods for treating sexual dysfunction in males and females by administering an agent which remodels neuronal or vascular pathways. Examples are vasodilators, activators of guanylyl cyclase such as forskolin or antagonists of phosphodiesterases. Topical administration is also described. Document D2 discloses topical compositions comprising mixtures of plant extracts (especially Coleus forskohlii) for the treatment of female sexual disorders. Document D3 discloses forskolin as an intracavernosal vasoactive agent in the management of vasculogenic impotence. Combination of agents resulted in synergistic response.
- 1.2 Document D4 discloses the use of ximenic acid, topically administered, to treat sexual impotence.
- 1.3 Document D5 discloses topical compositions of Ammi extracts comprising particularly visnadine, which is more active if percutaneously administered and which increases volume and blood flow-rate.
- 1.4 Document D6 discloses topical compositions comprising esculoside for treating peripheral vasculopathies related to impaired peripheral microcirculation.

- 1.5 Document D7 discloses icariin for treating sexual dysfunction and vasculargenic disease (enhancement of NO-cGMP pathway).

2. Novelty and Inventive Step (Article 33(2) and (3) PCT):

Claim 1 relates to a topical composition comprising a) esculoside or visnadine b) forskolin or plant extracts and c) esters of ximenynic acid, claim 9 relates to the use of said composition for treating sexual dysfunctions.

As none of the prior art documents disclose such a composition, the subject-matter of claims 1-9 seems to be novel.

In view of the data submitted by the applicant with respect to a synergistic effect of the gel according to example 1 of the application the subject-matter of the claims insofar as they relate to a compositions containing (at least) esculoside, coleus forskolii purified extract and ximenynic acid ethyl ester seems to be inventive.

With respect to the other compositions encompassed by claims 1-9 it is noted that they consist merely in the combination of known compounds for the same use or of known compounds with known properties which are employed for the same use, respectively (see documents D1-D7). Thus, the subject-matter of claims 1-9 insofar as they relate to these compositions does not seem to be inventive.
